SIXTEENTH YEAR

U.A.C. STUDENTS TO HAVE CHANCE AT AVIATION

An opportunity for students of the Utah Agricultural College to enter training schools to prepare for commissions in the Aviation Service in the near future is offered by a recent communication received by Captain Stephen Abbot, in charge of the military work at the College, from Major E. H. Litchfield, of the Signal Corps by authority of the Chief of the Air Service, Lieutenant Colonel R. W. Gregg.

This communication is as follows:

1. It is hoped that such men as you may choose to recommend from among the members of your unit of the Reserve Officers Training Corps, may soon be granted opportunity to be examined for training for a commission as Second Lieutenant in the Aviation Section. (Flying).

2. Recommendations for admission to examination will be considered only in the case of men who are members of the Reserve Officers Training Corps units and who will complete the senior course this year; or in the case of men who have since January 1, 1917, completed one year's course in such Training Corps and have received not less than 300 hours of military instruction under the supervision of an officer of the Army. These cadets must be recommended by yourself and must be between the ages of eighteen years and six months, and thirty years, though men under twenty-five are especially desired. Applications are to be made directly to yourself as Professor of Military Science and Tactics. A list of the names giving the present and permanent addresses of those whom you wish to recommend for training as flying officers should be mailed by June 1, 1918, to the Procurement Branch, Personnel Section, Office of Chief of Air Service, Washington, D. C. It is requested that you supply such further information relative to each of the men recommended as would, in your opinion, be of advantage in determining his fitness to undertake this course of training.

3. Special precautions should be taken by yourself to make certain that the men whom you recommend understand that no promises whatever as to admission to examination or as to commissions can be made to them at this time.

By authority of the Chief of the Air Service, H. W. CREGG, Lieut. Colonel, Signal Corps, Chief of Personnel.

By E. HUBERT LITCHFIELD, Major A. S. Sig. R. C.

Exercises Of Logan Junior High School

A great many people within the confines of Logan City, do not realize that we have here in our city, one of the best High School plants in the State of Utah. Inspectors and educators that come and go throughout the State make the statement that Utah has only one building that can be considered superior, and that is the East Side High School building of Salt Lake City.

The new gymnasium is one of the best of its kind in our county, with it the board of education has purchased a fine lot of apparatus. A large swimming pool is also attached to the gymnasium which will be thrown open for the general public this summer.

The new High School Auditorium is the largest in our city. The seating capacity is larger than that of Nibley Hall or the U. A. C. Auditorium.

The Board of Education are to be complimented upon the building and its arrangement. As soon as possible all four years of High School work will be given.

The building was constructed by Fred Dahle. It will be open for inspection all day today. The following program has been arranged for this evening in the Tabernacle, commencing at 8 o'clock, to which all are invited.

MAY FESTIVAL PRESENTED BY U. A. C. LADIES

A large audience of appreciative Logan people, saw the May Festival presented by the women of the Department of Physical Education of the Utah Agricultural College last Monday on the campus.

Many plants and trees specially moved for the occasion formed a delightful setting for the dances. Mrs. Georgia B. Johnson, in charge of physical education at the institution, directed the festival. Music for the occasion was supplied by the department of music. The following program was presented:

FEDERAL TAX REVISION

In an editorial on the above subject The New York Times says, "this is a billion dollar country, but it manages its affairs in a manner which would bankrupt a billion dollar private corporation. The last tax bill provided billions more than could be spent, and yet billions less than will soon be needed." It then says congress proposes to make present provisions for future needs, and declares that the coming congressional elections will come into the equation from the fact that the tax bills are badly constructed. After deploring the political side of the case it declares. What the taxpayers need is not relief from taxes, but relief from methods of levying taxes which are bad partly by design and partly for reasons which are excusable, although there is no excuse for delay in remedying them.

The editorial then gives some real figures which show the inequality of the law, and which demonstrate again the fact that "the South is in the saddle." Here is what it says:

"The tax bill was vicious in so far as it was designedly apportioned inequitably. It was the intention and the boast of the lawmakers that the burden of the income tax should fall rather on the grain and industrial States than on the cotton States. The result is that in 1916 Southern States paid $3,109,000 individual income taxes and Northern States $53,839,000 in a total tax payment of $67,900,000. In 1917 the figures for the same Southern States were $10,836,000, for the same Northern States $127,973,000, in a total of $160,528,000. The designed effect having followed, the country should have an opportunity to express its mind about it while the occurrence is still fresh."

If they are both alive when the war is over, John Barleycorn and the Kaiser, will be in the proper frame of mind to sympathize with each other.—The Kansas City Star.

Mr. Creel is not alone in his thankfulness that we were unprepared for this war. No doubt the Kaiser is just as thankful as Mr. Creel.—Holton Recorder.

Better order your winter's supply of coal now.

DOLLAR DAY WAS A GREAT SUCCESS

Hundreds of people from all parts of the valley were here early and late yesterday taking in the bargain offered by the merchants of Logan. The stores were open from 8 o'clock until 8:30. The police force was present to keep order among them. They had their eyes on some fine musical instruments worth many times a dollar.

One crowd of boys were at the Thatcher Music store at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and waited there until 8:30. The police force was present to keep order among them. They had their eyes on some fine musical instruments worth many times a dollar.

Large crowds were stationed at the leading stores of the city. The merchants in some instances were selling articles at a great sacrifice, and no doubt are regretting it today.

The clerks in all the stores were tired last evening, for besides working hard all day they had to put in a long shift.

One of the funny things to see yesterday was the way the people had of carrying their goods home. It was not an uncommon sight to see red handkerchiefs tied around a few cans of goods, or a lady coming along with her apron full. Some old men about the city brought a few gunny sacks along and filled them up.

The Dollar Day in Logan has come to stay, and the people know the real value of the day. People came to the city yesterday from all parts of Cache Valley, from Avon on the south to Gentile Valley or the north. Several large automobiles loaded with people drove all the way from Oxford, Idaho.

The householder in Germany can get only one third of the coal he wants. You can get all you need if you buy now.

PRES. KIRKHAM OF LOCAL AG. CLUB BUYS W. S. S.

Patriotic foresight would well characterize a recent action of the Agricultural Club of the Utah Agricultural College, in which it turned the money in its treasury, there due to careful conservation of club expenses, into thrift stamps to be used at the end of five years to purchase furniture for the club rooms. The club has been able to save during the year $29.33. To this, the institution has added a like amount, so that $58.66 plus interest will be available for club fittings when the W. S. S. mature.

Patriotism has characterized most of the Club's activities during the past year. The club was instrumental in securing the presence of two of America's foremost agricultural experts Prof. H. H. Whetzel, of the Department of Plant Pathology, Cornell University, and Professor C. H. Eckles, of the Department of Dairying, University of Missouri, to lecture on the relation of agriculture and the war.

It has published throughout the year, the Ag. Club Link, a monthly paper dedicated to the interests of agriculture in Utah, and sent to the High Schools of the State. It has just completed its annual farm tour taking in farming establishments of merit in Cache and Box Elder counties.

At a recent election, the Ag. Club elected the following officers to succeed President E. J. Kirkham; Vice President, J. R. Jennings and Secretary Treasurer, A. E. Smith; Lucian M. Mechem, Jr., president; David E. Heywood, vice president; George Barber, secretary treasurer. J. Robert Bateman was elected editor of the Ag. Club Link, Douglas Cannon, chairman of the membership committee, and Elgin Morris, chairman of the extension committee.

AWARDS FOR SCHOLARSHIP EX

Awards for excellence were made to the winners of the scholarship A's given each year by the institution: George Gerald Thorne, Lucian M. Mechem, Jr., Stella Young, Mabel Hendricks, George D. Clyde and Geneva Wells.

The following received honorable mention for excellent scholarship: Leulla White, Eva Lindquist, Rachel Dunford, Edna Burnham, Elizabeth Underwood, and Cleo Olson.

Mrs. H. C. Draper entertained number of her Logan friends at her home in Millville on Tuesday. The afternoon was spent in music and social chat. Dainty refreshments were served. Covers were laid for ten.
